At first we wish to introduce ourselves and our organization. We are the members of All India Yuva Computer Saksharata Mission, a voluntary, charitable organization registered under Government of West Bengal, (Registration No. WB-IV 00451/2014) in collaboration with Multi Society for Services to People registered under Government of West Bengal (Regn No. WB-1L 32075/2005), an ISO 9001:2008 Certified organization, dedicated ourselves to fulfill the dream of e-literate India that is to spread computer education among every citizen of our country specially among the backward peoples, minority peoples, women, and disabled persons. For this purpose we make many computer institutions in different locations.

We took an initiative to start a new programme for Computer Literacy named "Netaji Subhash Computer Siksha Yojona" from 1st January 2016 which is running successfully in many schools of West Bengal and other States of India. This Programme is highly appreciated by Honourable Presidents Secretariat of government of India and now is under consideration of Education Ministry of Government of India.

In this Programme, School/Madrasa students of rural areas specially the primary school students will be introduced to computer and trained at a very low cost of Rs. 10-25 per month depending the locality and number of students of the school with the prior permission of the governing body.

We wish to arrange the setup of two computers with UPS and internet connection through Smart Phone and Wi-Fi device/Dongle (these devices initially allotted as one set for one teacher and later one set for every School) in every Primary School, and recruit one teacher for three to four nearby Schools. The students will get two classes (one Theoretical and one Practical) every week. For

To implement this initiative we need your kind Cooperation, Support and Help.
